IDM.6055.SiLeNt.InStAiL.rar IDM.6055.SiLeNt.InStAiL.zip IDM.6.05-6.80.1.1-5.5. A: The URL you posted has a couple lines that follow the IDM download. %idm-%im-%file-size%-%date% If you look for a line that has the name of the file, you can probably narrow down where it was saved. %idm-%im-%file-size%-%date% DEVDownloadInstaller.exe You can double check with the software that you can find the.exe from the URL instead of the.rar. So you should be able to look for things like this: %idm-%im-%file-size%-%date% DEVDownloadInstaller.exe But I have no idea where the version will be on a new machine. Q: Divide one column by another, and then subtract the results in MySQL I would like to divide the number from my application by the second number, and then, for each row, subtract the result from the first number, and put it in a new column. Eg.: Application - Hrs a1.app - 4 a2.app - 8 a3.app - 5 Result: Hrs app - Qty 4 - 1 8 - 2 5 --1 I have tried using the division, but can't seem to get the results I want. A: I think you want something like: SELECT a.app, a.qty, a.app - a.qty AS qty_app FROM t a; Q: Displaying a point plot in Shiny with colour dependent on other points I'm trying to figure out how to display a vector plot in a Shiny application that displays the colour of each point depending on its location in the X and Y direction. I have a dataset that looks like this #data df f678ea9f9e
